

Closing round-table of the MSH Mondes project INSTaNT

Thursday 20th of October 2022

9h30-15h

CNRS, 9 rue Malher, 75004 Paris

Room RDJ 1

Programme

9h30 – Welcome

9h45-10h – Presentation of the iNSTaNT project, Solène Denis (CNRS UMR 8068) and Louise Gomart (CNRS UMR 8215)

10h-10h20 – Ath « Les Haleurs » (Hainaut, Belgium): multi-proxy analysis of a cultural transition between LBK and Blicquy/Villeneuve-Saint-Germain, Isabelle Deramaix (AWaP), Solène Denis (CNRS UMR 8068) and Ivan Jadin (IRSNB)

10h25-10h45 – Macrolithic toolkit from Ath “Les Haleurs” (Hainaut, Belgium) within its regional context, Caroline Hamon (CNRS UMR 8215)

10h50-11h10 – Reconstructing diets and tool function during the LBK through starch grain analysis: the perspective from Ath, Clarissa Cagnato (UMR 8096) et Caroline Hamon (CNRS UMR 8215)

11h15-11h35 – The diet of the first farmers in Moravia in terms of lipid analysis, Johana Malíšková (PhD, Department of Archaeology and Museology, Masaryk University)

11h40-12h – Distribution Structures of Chipped Stone Raw Materials and Their Interpretation. Case Study of the Morava River Basin and Bohemia Between ca 4900 - 3400 BC, František Trampota (Institute of Archaeology, Czech Academy of Science, Prague)

12h-13h15 – LUNCH BREAK

13h15-13h35 – Neopot, Tracing the Neolithic transition through the first pottery in Central Europe, Peter Tóth (Assistant Professor, Department of Archaeology and Museology, Masaryk University)

13h40-14h – Intra-settlement stylistic variability of the LBK pottery from Těšetice-Kyjovice and its potential for the study of social identities, Branko Hossa (Bachelor, Department of Archaeology and Museology, Masaryk University)

14h05-14h25 – An approach to the economic networks and technical craft traditions of the LBK in Alsace (France): the contribution of analyses of ceramic materials, Benjamin Gehres (CNRS UMR 6566)

14h30-14h50 – Studying the link between the BVSG and Swifterbant Cultures through technological pottery analysis: Current insights and future perspectives, Dimitri Teetaert (post-doc, Department of Archaeology, Ghent University)

As the number of places is limited, please contact the organisers in advance to check availability, thanks!

Solène Denis, denis.solene@gmail.com

Louise Gomart, louise.gomart@cnrs.fr

You can follow the presentations online by clicking on this link:

<https://zoom.univ-paris1.fr/j/96335607819?pwd=OUVreDBsK3RHdDNjVTBqZ0JJQjZ1dz09>